

Which community amenity has been giving you the most ‘heartburn’ because of security concerns?

To date, community amenities like the pool, fitness center and unmanned gates have provided some of the most chronic problems for the HOA’s and property managers. And due to the lower level of activity, there has not been a cost effective security solution for you to implement.

Not any longer.

For a couple of dollars an hour, these environments can now be provided a real-time, remote monitoring solution, that doesn’t just record the criminal behavior for review the next day, but actually ‘stops the criminal in his tracks.’

Utilizing state of the art digital technology, these amenities can be visually monitored in real time for after hours intrusion or access requests. And should an alarm be triggered, through an alarm point or motion detection, remote monitoring officers can view live video feed, and audibly interact with the environment.

For a small capital investment*, a specifically designed system can be deployed at your community amenity, which would feed audio and video data back to our command center during monitoring hours.

Haven’t you had ‘heartburn’ long enough?
